Epistle: St. Paul's First Letter to the Corinthians 1:10-17 Gospel: Matthew 14:14-22

We will celebrate the Feast Dormition of the Holy Theotokos on Sunday, August 14, 2016 at 10:00 am.

Dormition of the Holy Theotokos: According to an ancient tradition, when Mary the Theotokos fell asleep in the Lord, the apostles came together “from the ends of the earth” to be with her. The Dormition icon and the hymns of the feast reflect this, showing a picture of apostolic brotherly unity around her. As we know from the gospels, Acts, the letters of Saint Paul, and the others, it wasn't always like that. Before and after Jesus' death and resurrection the apostles were often at loggerheads or competitive, jockeying for the closest positions to their Master (see Luke 22:24-27). In the early days of the mission, Paul and Peter openly disagreed (see Galatians 2:11-21), so did Paul and Barnabas (see Acts 15:36-41). Church life generally in the first century was often contentious. Just read 1-2 Corinthians if you have doubts about that.
