Things to know while in church: To Cross or not to Cross Anyone who has looked around on a Sunday morning will notice that different people cross themselves at different times. To a certain extent, when to cross oneself is according to personal piety and not an issue of dogma. But there are times when it is specifically proper to cross yourself and times when you should not.

To Cross When you hear one of the variations of the phrase, “Father, Son and Holy Spirit; at the beginning and end of the liturgical service or your private prayers; entering or exiting the church or when passing in front of the Holy Altar; before venerating an icon, the cross or Gospel book.

Not to Cross At the chalice before or after taking Communion (you might hit the chalice with your hand); when the priest or bishop blesses saying, “Peace be to all” – bow slightly and receive the blessing; when receiving a blessing from a bishop or priest (kissing the right hand of the bishop or priest is appropriate, but not making the sign of the cross).
